Dedication

DR. A. J. JACOBSON

If there is any single quality which serves to raise man's head and pay his passage across the face of this earth, it is surely found in the act of subordinating himself for an ideal . . . Often, in voicing his mind and raising his convictions, the individual falls, but so long as his voice is echoed in the minds of other men, he lives . . . For this world on which we tread today is more than a three dimensional thing of brick and steel. It is a small part of creation in which the thought and the works of man can survive his life-span and mirror his achievements, a platform from whence his influence can be felt by those yet unborn. In this is a man's immortality manifested . . . It is fitting that we who are in college so that we might hear, see, and pass our own judgments on the efforts of those who have preceded us, to dedicate this record of our year to all men everywhere who stood straight in the face of overwhelming opposition and gave voice to their opinions . . . Right or wrong, important or trivial, it is to the sincere conviction and to the courage that it takes to turn conviction into effect, that we dedicate this 1955 Artemisia . . .

Governor's Message

Greetings to the Students and Alumni of the University of Nevada

Of deep significance, and, I feel certain, of utmost pride to all who call Nevada their home, is the steady, productive growth and expansion of the University of Nevada . . . It is reassuring to note the progress being made at the state's only institution of higher learning. Certainly it has advanced far and has gained in respect down through the years . . . It is highly significant that the University is expanding. There now is a branch of the school in Las Vegas and on the campus of Nevada Southern there is to be a $200,000 classroom to provide space and facilities for those who want to further their education in Nevada . . . That structure was assured upon my recommendation during the 1955 session of the Nevada State Legislature as well as other bond issues for long overdue remodeling projects. Coupled with that was the approval of a two-year budget a quarter of a million dollars more than the preceding biennium . . . It all adds up to the fact that advancement thus far can be attributed to the faith Nevadans have in their school and the courage they are showing in meeting financial and moral obligations as substantial citizens of this state . . . The University of Nevada always has and always will hold a fond place in my heart; not simply because of nostalgic memories I associate with the University but because I firmly believe the school's role in making Nevada a better state is paramount . . . Our destiny as a free nation, I am firmly convinced, depends upon a strong, realistic educational system. It is the bulwark against the evils which seek to destroy our fundamental struggle for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Sincerely yours, Charles H. Russell, Governor

The President

The good concept of education must be that it is in the forefront of changing times and ideas. Consequently, the university ideal of today is vastly different than it was half a century ago . . . A university's aim in this modern-day world must be dual in nature. In addition to giving the student a broadened perspective of culture and understanding, a university must also offer him training in a specialized area. When he enters the professional world, the world of making a living, he then possesses both the values with which to understand that world, and the technical knowledge that will enable him to make his way . . . This is the aim and ideal of the University of Nevada. We are attempting to improve our own cultural aspect, and at the same time, broaden our scope of specialized learning. We have set our goal on providing the facilities to accomplish these ends. The past two years have been rich in progress. We feel they may indeed mark the beginning of a new era of importance for the University of Nevada.

Minard W. Stout, President University of Nevada

SLIAS RCSS, Chairman

Board of Regents

This group is elected by the people of the State of Nevada for the purpose of determining University of Nevada policy. There are five members on the Board chosen from areas throughout the State. Their job is not easy nor does it offer financial benefit but their decisions are of paramount importance to the welfare of the University of Nevada.

Dean of Women

With her characteristically gracious manner and a wealth of time and consideration for all, Dean Elaine Mobley had won the respect and admiration of all the females on campus. She has worked untiringly to orient the freshmen women and in addition has advised Pan-Hellenic, A.W.S. and Sagens.

The Deans

Dean of Men

The main center for advice on student activities is the office of William Carlson. Working closely with both the administration and students his job is probably one of the most important on campus . . . that of integration. Dean Carlson functions on many committees plus serving as advisor to the Inter Fraternity Council.

Administration

These are the people whom few of us know, but without their untiring behind the scenes work, the University could not function. Without them matters such as the budget schedules, publicity and sundrious other things would be in complete turmoil.

JIM McNABNEY, Graduate Manager

Graduate Manager

Student activities must always lay some of the credit for their success at the door of our graduate manager Jim McNabney. Jim is always ready to help the students, working with them on the Finance Control Board and the Publications Board of the A.S.U.N. and also handling the ASUN Bookstore for the student body.

College Deans

The University could not function smoothly without the diligence of the Deans. As part of the administration it is the Deans who work between the faculty department heads and the president to further the development of programs which will better serve the students educational need. . . . Credit should be given to these men who have put so much of their time and thought into maintaining and improving the standards and academic offerings at Nevada.

The highest office possible open to a woman is president of the Associated Women Students. The job is two fold for she also serves in the capacity of vice-president of the A.S.U.N. . . . The responsibility of publishing the handbook, commonly known as the Frosh Bible sponsoring an awards assembly, fashion show and Co-ed Capers belongs to the A.W.S. president and her council . . . This year's president Jackie McGowan is from Yerington, Nevada. This campus leader has also served three semesters as president of Pi Beta Phi Sorority, plus being active in many campus organizations.

JACKIE MCGOWAN

A. S. U. N.

Throughout the year, campus politics were kept on an even keel, largely through the unstinting efforts of ASUN President Clair Earl, of Theta Chi. As president of the ASUN his duties were manifold, and time consuming. It was largely through his work that the entire student body was able to get the myriads of jobs attendant upon any group so large, accomplished. Despite the fact that Clair was kept on the go almost constantly, he was always available to give just a little more time to the student body. As president he was ex-officio member of practically every committee, and club on the campus.

ASUN Student Government, under the leadership of Clair Earl and AWS president Jackie McGowan consists of the senate with its various sub-committees of Publications, Finance and Nominations and all the other various committees which so ably handle student activities such as assembly and rally committee and upperclass committees. Officers elected by the student body as a whole are the president, class officers and senators at large. Other leaders are appointed through the senate, whose members are chosen from each living group on the campus. Student government functions for the students, to promote activities, to encourage student participation, to meet the needs of the student body with work on projects such as the Travis Student Union Building . . . It is this group who reflects the ideas and aspirations of our students, the integral part of campus life at Nevada.

Seniors

After four years of books and parties, the senior class of 1955 left the halls of the University of Nevada to turn to the more serious side of life . . . Military service, vocations, and further studies will be their way of life in the future. But their years at the U. of N. will remain among their most cherished memories . . . The senior year was marked by the annual Ball held in the Redwood Room of the Riverside Hotel. Under the leadership of class manager Jake Carpenter, the class committee worked to give the theme "Memories," everlasting meaning.

Juniors

Next to the to pin the hierarchy of student seniority, the juniors had a busy time of it all year long. One of their more notable activities was sponsoring the March of Dimes on the Nevada campus. Another more traditional function was the presentation of the annual Junior Prom. This year's dance, with the theme of "My Blue Heaven" was highly successful.

Sophomores

After two years at the University of Nevada, these young men and women will next year be elevated to the status of upperclassmen, and to the trials and privileges that go with the rise. They have now passed the half-way mark and must make a definite decision as to what they mean to accomplish in college, and to what ultimate goal they are striving . . . Mike Marfisi was class manager, and with the aid of his committee, helped to sponsor the Frosh-Soph hop, the field day, and the class picnic.

These young men and women entered the University of Nevada for the first time this year. Many of their original number have dropped out, and many more undoubtedly do so before graduation day, 1958 . . . They began the year with orientation and spent a good deal of time getting acquainted with new ways and new ideas. The social part came easy; the scholastic part was more difficult . . . Steve Dollinger was the leader of the class.

With Nevada a member of the Far Western Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, the function of the committee is to make recommendations to the president regarding the proper academic certification of athletics in accordance with the Far Western Conference Constitution. The question of eligibility of players is decided through this board. Chairman of the Board is Art Broten, faculty athletic representative.

GLENN J. LAWLOR

Coaches

Undoubtedly one of the busiest men on campus is Jake Lawlor. In addition to acting as Director of Athletics, Jake is coach of football, basketball and baseball. His popularity is not questioned for he is one of the most well-liked men on campus . . . As assistant Director of Athletics finds Hugh Smithwick with as full a schedule as Jake's. Hugh coaches the track team and acts as Lawlor's right hand man assisting in coaching the football team and all of the other duties connected with the athletic department.

Football Season

The University of Nevada football team met five conference teams in a seven game schedule, the first full load the Wolf Pack has carried since its return to collegiate football . . . Jake Lawlor coached the team assisted by Hugh Smithwick. The team did not have a full season captain but rotated among themselves to have game captains . . . Aside from the injuries sustained by key Nevada men, the Wolf Pack came through on top in two conference games midway in the slate by downing the Cal Aggies and Sacramento State . . . This year's team did not have a winning season but they had a great deal of fighting spirit. What more could we ask?

1955 Basketball Season

Coach Jake Lawlor, commenting on the past season said, "inexperience hurt us. We had only one senior on the squad. That and the fact that we played fifteen of twenty-three games on the road added up to a losing season" . . . By decisively defeating Sacramento State twice in the final series of the year enabled the Wolfpack to end their season with an eight won and fifteen loss team record . . . Nevada needed at least one win in their series with the fourth place Sacto team to insure them fifth position in the final standings of the Far Western Conference . . . San Francisco won the title by sweeping their series from defending champions Chico State. They were tied for the league lead with eight wins and no defeats before the final series.

Nevada boasted one of the best boxers in its long history this year in the person of Ted Contri, 19-year-old Elko sophomore. Spoken of by his coach and rival coaches as a strong contender for a berth on the 1956 Olympic boxing team, Ted enjoyed a highly successful season, capping it with runner-up honors in the 147 pound class at the National Collegiate Boxing Tournament in Pocatello, Idaho . . . An Alumni Association sponsored boxing benefit for Alf Sorenson also highlighted this year's activities. The Wolf Pack glove men sounded a ringing triumph over the Marines from Pickle Meadows.

BILL BULKELEY, Captain

With only two returning lettermen the ski team had many of their men competing in college races for the first time. The team was hampered when they lost Bill Edwards who suffered a spiral break on his right leg at the first of the season and key man Gardner Smith as well as Buddy Sorenson at the end of the first semester . . . Although the team did not have the victories they did last year, the team turned in some excellent races and with most of the men returning next year are looking forward to a great season.

Baseball

JAKE LAWLOR, Coach

Nevada athletes donned the uniforms familiar to the great American pastime, baseball, early in March to do battle in the Far Western Conference. Twenty-four sturdy men answered the early call for players, only six returned from last year's campaign . . . A minimum of accidents, ringing bats, and early spring rain marked the Pack's comparatively successful season. Milt Manoukian encountered a hand injury in a brief clash with flying spikes. Veteran Roger Trounday swung a big stick during the season. Without regard for baseball or the calendar, weather did its part in dampening spectator spirits and causing several postponements.

Pershing Rifles

The precision marching unit of Company A, better known as Pershing Rifles represented the University in every parade where a military group is needed . . . Composed of underclassmen in the R.O.T.C., Pershing Rifles also act as the honor guard for the entire department . . . Some of the parades that Pershing Rifles has performed are Homecoming, Admission Day and in the Helldorado parade held in Las Vegas . . . Their perfected drills and neat appearance make them a pleasure to watch.

Sagens

A honorary service organization for junior and senior women, the Sagens were led this year by Betty Munley . . . They worked throughout the football season selling programs and ushering. They also took the responsibility of ushering the capacity crowd at the annual Wolfe's Frolic . . . Thursday was meeting day, which accounts for the appearance of the women in blue skirts and white sweaters with the N.

Sagers

Underclass counterpart of Blue Key, the Sager group is selected from promising freshmen and sophomores and performs its function of campus service under the supervision of the older organization . . . After their apprenticeship, Sagers are duly initiated into Blue Key. Probably their biggest job of the year is the homecoming games where they sell tickets and generally promote homecoming activities. This year Ed Anderson and Chuck Johnson served as co-presidents.

Sigma Delta Chi

Sigma Delta Chi is an honorary journalistic fraternity of national proportions. Its aim is the raising of professional journalistic standards and the group works closely with practising journalists in this respect . . . Although among the smallest of national chapters, the Nevada group placed high on the annual proficiency rating. Under the able leadership of Ron Einstoss, Sigma Delta Chi had one of its most successful years since its inception on the campus in 1948.

Debate Squad

Members of the Nevada Debate squad, under the direction of Dr. Robert Griffen, have participated in seven major debate tournaments this year. The team has been host for the Delta Sigma Rho Western Regional Model Congress. Under the direction of Nevada's speech and drama department, students aided with the Nevada High School Forensic Tournament . . . Nevada's squad has competed this year against such schools as Stanford, USC, Cal, UCLA and the Universities of Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Utah and Arizona. The year found the senior men's team of Chad Combs and Steve Stewart especially successful with a second place in the Pacific Forensic League Tournament, tied for third place in the Montana TKA Tournament, where they won five out of six debates, and placing in the quarter finals of most other encounters. Individual honors in extempore and oratory were also won by Steve Stewart and Sue Casey. Climaxing a successful year, Coach Robert S. Griffen was named president of the Pacific Forensic League, which names the outstanding schools of the west coast among its members.

One of the most sadly lacking campus organizations the past several years has been the Block N society.

It was not too long ago that this men's organization was the pride of the campus, and rightly so. Its members are a select number, and to gain admittance, the student must letter in a major intercollegiate sport.

Because of the dismal amount of interest shown in the organization at meetings held this year, resident Doug Byington and several active members are endeavoring to build the Block N into the campus organ it should be.

First Add

At the last meeting held on February 10—attended by less than a dozen men—one of the proposals made was to withhold Block N cards from those members not regularly taking part in the activities of the group. These cards in the past have been a great incentive to members. They entitle the holder to admittance to all university athletic events for a period of five years following graduation. Other suggestions have been made, but as far as this is the best advanced, along with another which would require prospective lettermen to sign a pledge before receiving the card. This pledge would put the member on record as desiring to belong to the organization. The Block N does not recommend lettermen can receive their signing of a pledge as a means of termining of the privilege of determining who wish to be members and thereby gain the privileges of the organization. Failure to put a "John Henry" on the pledge would permanently eliminate the student from all Block N activities.

Second Add

Major projects of the Block N during the past year have been the supervision of the painting of the N on Peavine Mountain and the Frosh-Soph field day, and management of the concessions at football games. The former are old traditions, while the running of concessions offers the organization the best money-raising activity on the campus.

In both cases, the Block N fell

THE STORE THAT WAS FOUNDED ON A HANDSHAKE

ON MAY 1ST, 1897, IN TUSCARORA, NEVADA, a store was founded on a handshake and a Trust. No attorneys were present . . . just two men with faith in each other and the growth and people of Nevada.

BEING RAISED IN NEVADA these men were certain that they knew what you liked to buy, what you liked to eat. Regardless of the size of your family, from young homemakers to large ranchers, Sewell's would have what you wanted when you wanted it.

63 STORES GREW FROM THIS SMALL CRACKERBOX STORE IN TUSCARORA that was founded on such very meager savings—spreading throughout other Western States taking Nevada friendliness with them.

THIS PLEDGE GIVEN TO THE PEOPLE OF NEVADA 56 YEARS AGO is just as true now as it was then . . .

TO BUY TOP QUALITY MERCHANDISE IN CARLOAD LOTS so that YOUR SHOPPING DOLLARS WOULD GO FURTHER.

To keep our Stores Modern, up-to-date SUPER MARKETS.

To always strive to make YOUR SHOPPING A PLEASURE and the PEOPLE WHO SERVE YOU THE FRIENDLIEST.

As time passed, the realization that it took the full time and effort of those in Sewell's to keep up with the evergrowing Nevada, all stores were sold except those in OUR STATE . . . SEWELL'S IN RENO, SPARKS, ELKO AND WINNEMUCCA.

SINCERELY,

WHAT OF YOUR FUTURE?

Quite often we hear young people complaining that their future looks uncertain. They say that in the good old days a student graduating from college could expect to embark on his life's work when he completed school. But they point out, the uncertainties of world tension hang over the graduating student. Because of this, some students have adopted an attitude of not caring what happens—of not caring whether they are fulfilling obligations to their families, to their church, or to their communities.

These students may think that theirs is a special case, but really it isn't. Since the founding of our country, there have been uncertainties facing each generation. For example, students at the time of the Revolutionary War surely didn't feel that their future was free. Through the war of 1812, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, World War I, World War II, and the Korean conflict, young people have had to assume their responsibilities to further the American way of life. And it wasn't just in the war years, either . . . the students in depression days certainly faced a grim, uncertain future.

Yes, every generation of students has faced difficult problems. But each group over the years has overcome the problems and has gone on to improve our country for the next generation. The fact is, that this decade is the best time in all our history for students to face the challenge of life.

And the best of luck to you as you face it!

Seems like the time to wish you young folks godspeed on your educational journey comes oftener than it used to. Must be that life's speeding up and we're getting older. Certainly looks that way when you take a look at Las Vegas today and then remember what it was 10 years ago. Probably no place on earth has built up and gotten to be an established community in such a hurry. Nevada is still a land of opportunity—we're proving it every day. Keep this in mind as you plan your life ahead. Meanwhile, best wishes to the CLASS OF '55. Hope we'll be seeing you around for a long time to come.
